Making Gender Equality Happen

Knowledge, Change and Resistance in EU Gender Mainstreaming

Rosalind Cavaghan

Series: Gender and Comparative Politics

Rosalind Cavaghan presents a much needed fresh insight into the mechanisms maintaining the state's production of gender inequality, along with new perspectives on how we can tackle them.

Making Gender Equality Happen argues that we must examine why so many policy makers can't understand how to 'mainstream gender'. To do this, Cavaghan develops a new methodological and theoretical perspective Gender Knowledge Contestation Analysis and applies it to examine how Gender Mainstreaming did, and did not, work in the EU's Science and Research policy.

Findings provide fresh insights which help us to better understand and implement gender equality policies, in the changing European political context.

'Eminently readable and intellectually engaging. Feminists should reach immediately for this book and the clear, smart and convincing analysis it offers' - Myra Marx Ferre, Alice H. Cook Professor of Sociology, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

'A must-read for EU, policy and gender scholars' - Gabriele Ables, Jean Monnet Chair of European Integration, University of Tubingen
